Pertinent Information Concerning National Security Medal
Presented to John Edgar Hoover, Director
Federal Bureau of Investigation, United States Department of Justice
By President Dwight D. Eisenhower on May 27, 1955

The presentation ceremony was held at the White House and attended by members of the President's cabinet. William P. Rogers, Deputy Attorney General of the United States, read the citation accompanying the medal which is as follows:

"As Director of the Federal Bureau of Investigation for 31 years, he has made an outstanding contribution to the national security of the United States. Exercising exceptional tact, perceptiveness, judgment, and brilliant leadership in a position of great responsibility, he has established the highest ideals of Federal law enforcement and has directed them to realization. His tireless efforts have brought to a new height of effectiveness the law enforcement machinery of the United States Government. Through his well-grounded and clearly defined concept of investigative procedures, reinforced by his recognized integrity and high personal prestige, he has won international recognition for the Federal law enforcement system of the United States.

DWIGHT D. EISENHOWER"

President Eisenhower's remarks at the ceremony:

"Mr. Hoover, your dedication and devotion to public service are so long and so well known, your accomplishments in that service are so great and so well known, that it seems idle for me to try to say anything that could add to the dignity of this ceremony.

"Perhaps it is just best for me to say I am proud to be an agent for our people in conferring upon you this highest award that the Government has, and to say that your real reward--as all of us know--is in the hearts, the thanks and the gratitude of our entire nation."

In accepting the award, Director Hoover stated:

"Thank you, Mr. President. I am deeply grateful for this honor which you have accorded me. I realize that it has been brought about through the dedicated accomplishments of the personnel and my associates in the Federal Bureau of Investigation, as well as by the magnificent support which you as president and which the Attorney General have afforded us over the years.

"It is a pleasure, indeed, to serve as one of your subordinates."

Since approximately 1952, Television Emcee Ralph Edwards has had a weekly broadcast on the National Broadcasting Company's television network entitled "This is Your Life." Each week an individual is brought to the broadcast on a suitable pretext and the individual's life is then portrayed on the broadcast. Interesting anecdotes of this person's life are set forth and close friends and associates appear in person. Ralph Edwards is personally known to the writer, although no close degree of association exists. The writer was introduced to Ralph Edwards in 1952 and again in the Summer of 1955 by the writer's father, Tom McCray, who is vice president of the National Broadcasting Company in Hollywood, California. Recently the writer was contacted by his father and Edwards for the purpose of ascertaining if it would be possible to have the Director appear as guest of honor on Edwards' television show. Edwards stated he would consider it a great honor and privilege if the Bureau would consider having the Director's illustrious career with the FBI portrayed in such a manner.

These gentlemen indicated that because of the Director's long association with the Bureau and the continued growth and achievement it has seen under Mr. Hoover's direction, the story of Mr. Hoover's life on a television show of this type would in effect be a story of the FBI. The effectiveness of a program of this type, according to Edwards, is to have the guest unaware that he is to be on the program or that his life is to be portrayed and every effort is made by Edwards and his company to keep the identity of the guest secret.

RECOMMENDATION:

I am in the position to handle this matter in the best interests of the Bureau and the Director, either by advising my father and Edwards that no further action should be taken or by advising them to contact an appropriate Bureau official regarding further information in this regard.

Dear Mr. Hoover:

To a question asked of fifty men and women at random, we received the following reply overwhelmingly: "I sure would!" The question: "Would you like to see John Edgar Hoover as our next President?"

Following are some excerpts of conversation among a group of friends:

"Does he know anything about politics?"

"He knows enough to keep politics out of a department that successfully protects us from internal and external enemies."

"The FBI is his baby and he may not wish to leave it."

"As Chief Executive he would still be in control, and probably be able to do it plenty of good."

"Suppose, for personal reasons, he chooses not to run?"

"In that event, we will turn project into a national demonstration of the affection and high esteem in which he is held by fellow citizens."

The very thought of your candidacy captures the imagination, and because of the intense public interest, it would be easy for promoters to enrich themselves in collecting funds, etc. We therefore, would like to turn entire project over to a friend of your personal choice.

Before writing the press and such men as Walter Winchell, would you please advise us the name and address of such a personal friend to whom the public may write to present their views?

We don't want to let this thing get out of hand and possibly cause criticism by having wrong people get into the act.

Sincerely yours,

J. Edgar Hoover

IT IS ALMOST standard procedure for congressional committees to pare money requests made by federal agencies. Recently there was an exception. The House Appropriations Committee recommended that J. Edgar Hoover be granted the full $101,450,000 he said will be needed to operate the Federal Bureau of Investigation during the next fiscal year.

This was a fitting tribute to the executive who today marks his 33rd year as head of the FBI, and who, more so than any other individual, epitomizes sound, modern and efficient law enforcement.

During his long tenure Mr. Hoover has served under 11 attorneys general and five presidents. Under his high-principled genius, the FBI has emerged from an ineffective haven for political hacks to its present-day position of eminence in law enforcement. Over the decades the FBI's jurisdiction has tremendously expanded. The agency now conducts investigations in connection with more than 100 federal criminal statutes. Yet its over-all efficiency has improved steadily.

One of the FBI's outstanding contributions has been in helping to improve law enforcement at all levels of government. It conducts several thousand police training schools annually over the nation. Its crime laboratory and file of 144 million fingerprints are of basic value to all law enforcement agencies.

The FBI commands respect on many scores, an outstanding example of which is its record in enforcing the federal kidnaping statute. Since this law was passed in 1932, the FBI has handled 524 major kidnaping cases and has solved all but two, the Mattson case in 1936 and the Levine case which occurred in 1938.

Mr. Hoover's 23rd anniversary as head of the world's most respected law enforcement agency is a fitting time to pause in appreciation of him and the dedicated agents who have helped the FBI achieve its notable record of success.

MR. TOLSON:

Bill Hutchinson called. May 10 will be the Director's 33rd anniversary. He would like to pose a series of questions which could be answered and which they would set up for a Sunday release and he would send out on Friday morning, May 10, over their wire.

I told Bill I would like to discuss the matter with the Director; that one problem which had occurred to me would be what we would do if the other wire services came along. Bill stated that they could submit their own questions. I told him this would be awkward but nevertheless, I would talk to the Director about it.

Since Bill has taken the initiative, I suggest that the Director agree to supply the answers to his questions with the understanding that if there are any questions we don't like we can make substitutions. I told Bill I would call back either today or tomorrow.

ASAC McCabe, New York, called to advise there were two articles in today's issue of the New York Journal American, one concerning the Director and the other concerning yourself. In Dorothy ~~Kagallen~~ Kagallen's column, "Voice of Broadway," one paragraph is devoted to the following, "Eye Hoover for FBI Film." This paragraph goes on to state that Warner Brothers desires that the Director play himself in the forthcoming film based upon the book, "The FBI Story."

The second item is an article by E. V. ~~Durling~~ Durling entitled "Clyde Tolson--The Missouri Hawkshaw." This article reflects that the ~~Assistant~~ Director of the FBI has great talent as an investigator but also has an unusual inventive ability. The article reflects that you have invented a bottle cap and that you have been offered the sum of $1,000,000 for the patent rights.

McCabe is sending both articles to the Bureau.

Dear Mr. Simon:

I am indeed appreciative of the thoughtfulness prompting your letter of March 25, 1957, regarding the interest of artist Michael Alexander Werboff in painting my portrait.

While I do not have any plans along these lines at the present time, I will certainly keep his offer in mind.

Sincerely yours,

J. Edgar Hoover

NOTE: As noted in Simon's letter, Werboff is one of the world's leading portrait artists and is an admirer of the Director.

Dear Mr. Hoover:

Late last Friday, March 22, 1957, two of our Agents interviewed Michael Alexander Werboff regarding his knowledge of Boris Morros with whom Werboff has been acquainted since 1938.

Werboff is a Russian-born portrait painter who is listed on page 2911, Volume 26, of "Who's Who". He is represented in the Metropolitan Museum in New York City.

Director

During the course of the interview Werboff stated that he has the greatest respect for you and that he would consider it an extreme honor to do a portrait of you. He stated that he would present this portrait as a token of his admiration for you. Werboff commented that if you are unable to come to New York for the required number of sittings, he would travel to Washington to do the painting.

Dear Dr. Wells:

I wish to acknowledge your communication of December 10, advising me of my designation to receive a special George Washington Award at Valley Forge on February 22, 1957.

I was deeply touched by the action of the awards jury when your informal message was communicated to me last week, and I immediately set to work to readjust my schedule, which frankly impressed me as rather impossible at the time. I am now very happy to advise you that I have rearranged my commitments so that I can be with you on February 22,

I can assure you I feel highly honored that I was singled out to receive this award, and I shall do so on behalf of the organization which I have been so proud to head over the years.

With best wishes and kind regards,

Sincerely yours,

FREEDOMS FOUNDATION AT VALLEY FORGE

VALLEY FORGE, PENNSYLVANIA

December 10, 1956.

KENNETH D. WELLS
PRESIDENT

Honorable J. Edgar Hoover
Director
Federal Bureau of Investigation
Washington 25, D.C.

Dear Mr. Hoover:

It is my privilege and honor to formally advise you of your selection by the distinguished 1956 awards jury, convened officially at Valley Forge from November 24th, to December 3rd.

In the eight years of Freedoms Foundation's vigorous life, our medals, cash awards, and awards to schools and colleges, have been made in every state. Never before have we considered presentation of a special George Washington Award. It is for the most outstanding individual contribution to Freedom during 1956, improving understanding of the American structure of freedom.

We are instructed by the awards jury to strike a special medal and plaque commemorating your works for land of God and freedom. A $5,000.00 cash award accompanies the medal. This is the largest single award Freedoms Foundation has ever given. You, Mr. Hoover, have been selected from a great number of eminent people to receive this high honor on the occasion of its first presentation. The awards jury, as do I, considers this award as the highest ranking of all citations in the history of eight years operations. There are personal comments of high approval I should like to add, but this is the official letter of presentation of Freedoms Foundation.

We intensely desire your presence at Valley Forge on Washington's Birthday, February 22nd, at twelve noon. The ceremonies will be short but include a fifteen-minute special period for your response to your award, as an address to the American public on any subject of your choice. This will be carried by all media through the length and breadth of our land.

I speak for a determined and eminent group of patriots who struggle mightily in this time of tyranny. It is in their behalf I proudly send this notification of Freedoms Foundation's highest honor to you.

Faithfully yours, 18 MAR 11 1957

Kenneth D. Wells

BOSS FOR 32 YEARS—FBI Director J. Edgar Hoover (right) was congratulated yesterday on his 32nd anniversary as head of the nation's No. 1 law enforcement agency by Associate Director Clyde Tabor (left) and Louis B. Nichols, assistant to the director.

FBI Chief Begins 33rd Year, Urges Calm Racial Solution

By International News Service

WASHINGTON, May 10.—J. Edgar Hoover Thursday marked his 32nd anniversary as director of the Federal Bureau of Investigation with a strong plea for solution of civil rights problems "without recourse to violence."

The FBI chief, a robust 61, a veteran of serving under five presidents and 11 attorneys general, has been head of a Federal agency longer than any other man in the nation's capital.

The emphasis with which he discussed the civil rights enforcement issue, one of the most perplexing problems the United States now faces, underscored the undiminished enthusiasm with which he tackles his big job as he moves deeper into his fourth decade of Government service.

Mr. Hoover said that the FBI stands for the civil rights of every citizen and that it is one of the nation's most important agencies. He said that the FBI is a part of the government and that it is responsible to the people. He said that the FBI is a part of the government and that it is responsible to the people. He said that the FBI is a part of the government and that it is responsible to the people.

FINAL EDITION

Fate Hoover, FBI Boss 32 Yrs.

WASHINGTON (AP)—J. Edgar Hoover reached his 32nd anniversary as FBI director. He marked the occasion with a warm word for the broad advancement of law enforcement in his time and a hopeful forecast that current civil rights difficulties in the South will be solved "in a responsible way."

He goes into his 33rd year holding the all-time record for tenure as head of a Federal agency. With the Justice Department since 1917, he has been the FBI boss under five Presidents and 11 attorneys general.

Nov. 10, Hoover made no special event of yesterday's anniversary, but there was a stream of visitors to his office to shake hands and to say words of the huge celebration is celebrated. His favorite flower, which came in from all parts of the country,

EXPLANATIONS
The director's city folder of about 100,000 pages of material is a vast collection of information on all problems that can be met and solved in the nation.

Talked informally with press men, Hoover said the FBI has over his long FBI association with the nation's law enforcement schools for local police officers in the southern states, using the bureau's most mature and experienced agents as instructors. He reported the response from chiefs of police and others has been "tremendous."

The schools, planned later for other parts of the country, are being set up to explain the Federal civil rights statutes, the areas of local and federal jurisdiction in this field, and according to Hoover, "to emphasize that the FBI didn't write the civil rights laws or hand down the school integration decision."

URGES MODERATION

"It's our job to enforce the laws of the land without prejudice," the FBI director said.

"If we ever started selecting which laws to enforce, and which to enforce, we would have a disaster."

The director's message in this matter was not a warning to the South but a reminder that the problems can be met and solved.

Hoover said the only things in his mind in looking back over his long FBI association were the many times that the nation's law enforcement enforcement, particularly at the local level, and the great growth of cooperative effort among police agencies at all levels of government.

Yesterday I saw Carlson, now Assistant Vice President of Westinghouse Airbrake Corporation, Pittsburgh. He stated he has just been selected to become Secretary of the company next Spring.

Carlson mentioned that he, as President of the Former Agents Chapter in Pittsburgh, will attend the National Convention of Former Agents in Detroit on 11/10 and 11/55, that he had heard the Director and Mr. Tolson might attend as the guest of Mr. Ford, that he hoped very much the Director could find time to appear even briefly before the group. He expects from 500 to 1,000 to be in attendance. Carlson stated he realized there were still some members of the group not acceptable to the Director, and for good reason, but that the vast majority are successful business and professional men, leaders in their communities and men of whom the Director can be proud. Carlson said these men are strong boosters of the Bureau and would consider it the best thing that could happen should the Director find time to attend the Convention and make even a brief statement.

Beverly Smith of the Saturday Evening Post called on December 5th to advise that Bob Fuoss, one of the top officials of the Saturday Evening Post, who called on the Director a couple years ago, had again approached him about the possibility of the Director doing an autobiography. Smith stated that the response to the Saturday Evening Post autobiographies has been excellent; that he could guarantee an excellent job and he wondered if there was any possibility of the Director changing his mind. I told CB that I knew for a certainty that the Director's position remained unchanged, although I would mention his call.

Jack Adams called to advise that ~~Karl~~ Mundt had made the statement that Midwest political leaders have agreed they will accept ~~Len~~ Hall or the Director as Presidential nominee next year.

Jack asked two questions. One, what was the Director's reaction? I told him no comment. Secondly, he inquired whether the Director had ever disclaimed having political aspirations. Adams was told that some time ago a similar question came up and the Director stated that he would absolutely not make any comment on any aspect of the matter. I told Jack by way of background and for his own information that as he well knew, the Director was born and raised in the District of Columbia, had never voted, had gone down the middle of the road and never engaged in any partisan political activity. Jack stated he knew this and as a matter of fact, a year or so ago he rode down in the elevator with someone who mentioned having discussed the possibility of the Director's entering the Presidential race with the Director and the Director had replied to this individual that he "had not lost his mind yet." Jack stated this, of course, is not the type of thing one uses as it is not in good taste but he knows what the Director's feelings are.

Mundt Sees Hoover, Hall As G. O. P. '56 Nominees

By the Associated Press

Senator Mundt, Republican of South Dakota, mentioned FBI Chief J. Edgar Hoover and Republican National Chairman Leonard Hall today as possible G. O. P. presidential nominees next year if President Eisenhower decides not to run.

Midwestern Republicans with whom he has talked have spoken favorably of both men, Senator Mundt said in an interview.

He said he is not expressing his own preference for any candidate at this time and declined to speculate on whether rather than former Gov. Thomas President Eisenhower will seek a E. Dewey.

Senator Mundt said he has found Vice President Nixon "receiving the most support" as the G. O. P. standard bearer next year in the event Mr. Eisenhower is not a candidate.

But he added that Senate Republican Leader Knowland of California, Mr. Hoover and Mr. Hall "also are showing considerable strength in the Midwest."

Senator Mundt said he had run into "a great deal" of talk about the possibility of Mr. Hoover as a nominee. He also said that when persons mentioned a candidate from New York, they spoke of Mr. Hall

Mr. Hall, when asked about the Mundt interview, told a reporter:

"If you ask me a serious question I'll answer it. No one, including me, takes the mention of my name seriously. I hope this ends all such discussion, period."

At FBI headquarters, Mr. Hoover declined to comment.

Associates of the FBI director noted that Mr. Hoover, a native and life-long resident of the voteless District of Columbia, has never cast a vote in an election.

They said he has frequently made it clear that he has never had any inclination toward political activity.

Senator Mundt has been participating in the Senate Agriculture Committee's Midwestern "grass roots" hearing and he said Republicans will "have to come up with a farm program that is better" than the administration's present flexible price support system.

Lieutenant Palazzetti, a member of the 55th Session, FBI National Academy, today inquired of Class Counselor Spencer H. Robb if Robb could find out if the Director would accept a Zippe lighter from the Zippe Company of Bradford, Pennsylvania, where Mrs. Palazzetti is employed. Palazzetti stated that one of the officials of the company had indicated that he would like to present the Director with one of the lighters. If the lighter could be presented it could be either a desk type or pocket type and it would be inscribed with either the Director's initials or the Director's name, as preferred. Bureau files contain nothing derogatory concerning the Zippe Manufacturing Co.

ACTION:

Mr. Palazzetti will be informed in keeping with the Director's desires.

Mr. Tolson:

I spent the afternoon of Washington's Birthday with Fletcher Knebel, assisting him in his two-part story on the Director for Look Magazine. Knebel's attitude generally is good. He told me that he talked to Frank Baughman and Baughman was helpful but that it was still obvious in Baughman's eyes he is as much a part of the Bureau as he ever was. He further stated that he talked to some other people around town, whom he did not enumerate and that he has seldom worked on a story such as this where there is such uniform agreement on the fineness of a man.

He told me that there were a couple of critical things that did come up. Somebody on the Hill told him that the FBI was 99.99% pure, but that there was one case wherein an employee of the Bureau who was related in some way to somebody on the Appropriations Committee had received a transfer which was favorable. I asked him for the names and told him that in line with our agreement, we would check the matter and let him know what the facts were. He stated he did not have the names; that he did not know that his source had the names. I told him that he ought to check back on it because certainly if it was something of interest he contemplated putting in the story he ought to have the true facts. He stated he would check back on it.

Does Phila. 28 was Pittsburg & it was for Sen. Reed who interceded
I then cited the case of the Congressman who called on the Director about getting an Agent's transfer out of Philadelphia canceled. He asked me the name of the Congressman because he thought that it would give additional weight and he thought it would be a matter of interest. I told him that offhand I did not know; that I would check with the Director. This is the case wherein the Director declined to cancel the transfer and the Congressman threatened to get the Director's job and later the Attorney General told the Director that he was not certain that the Director wasn't wrong - that he should have fired the Agent.

35 A check has been made of our files. The incident has been used on numerous occasions in the past. There are two situations that we have located which could fit the bill, although we can find nothing in file regarding the AG's conversation with the Director. A memorandum is attached setting forth the two situations.

24 APR 4 1955
Briefly, one involved former Special Agent Horace V. Bowling. The file reflects that Congressman Bacharach of New Jersey and Sydney S. Mudd of Maryland interceded for him as did Senator O. E. Weller. Weller, however, on

Memo for Mr. Tolson from L. B. Nichols

January 5, 1926, wrote the Director expressing his deep appreciation for the transfer of Bowling from St. Louis to Norfolk, Virginia. The other case involved former Special Agent Charles P. Aita. Joseph R. Grundy of Pennsylvania interceded on his behalf. Aita's resignation was requested in 1924; however, the request for Aita's resignation was rescinded upon the intercession on the part of Joseph R. Grundy. Aita did resign on January 27, 1925; however, Congressman Henry W. Watson interceded for Aita and on March 20, 1925, he was reappointed and directed to report to New York City. On April 20, 1925, he reported to Detroit and in August of 1925, was transferred to Cincinnati. On September 29, 1925, Aita requested a transfer to Philadelphia and on October 3, 1925, the Director expressed his regret to Aita that he could not be transferred. Congressman Henry W. Watson then interceded. It appeared that Aita had gone to Philadelphia rather than returning to Cincinnati. The Director explained the facts to Congressman Watson by letter October 19, 1925, and stated his willingness to accept Aita's resignation without prejudice if the resignation was received in a few days. It was submitted on October 27, 1925. Perhaps the Director can recall whether these cases are the ones that he has in mind, although I see no necessity of identifying the case to Knebel.

Knebel then told me that he had talked to one former Agent who had stated that some Agents get in trouble because after working day and night under tremendous pressure, their nerves are frayed and they are told to do something which they can't agree is the proper thing to do and they flare up. I told Knebel that this was ridiculous; that the Director had standing orders that if anyone at the Bureau had any reason or believed that a certain order should not be carried out, that before carrying out the order, they were to state their position; that I knew that there had never been a case wherein the Director had criticized an Agent merely because he spoke up and expressed his opinion. I told Knebel that the easiest way I knew of for an Agent to get in trouble with the Bureau would be to blindly carry out some instruction which he did not understand or which he was in possession of information which indicated the instruction should not be carried out without calling it to the attention of his superiors.

Knebel inquired as to the Director's family and whether he had any brothers and sisters living. I told him he had one sister living. He then stated that this must be Fred Robinette's mother; that he called Robinette who stated he would be glad to talk to him, but not before he got a clearance from the Director. I told Knebel I could see no point in his pursuing a family matter because, after all, there are degrees of closeness even in his own family, which he agreed was correct.

He is going to get up a list of questions which he will give us which will be used as a basis for a very brief interview with the Director. I told him to get up the questions; and if there are any that I cannot handle or cannot readily get the answers to these would then be given to the Director.

Let me see them. H.
He stated also he would like to see Mr. Tolson and would like to see Miss Gandy briefly. I told him this would be arranged, but that Mr. Tolson would be tied up for the balance of the week and that the Director's commitments were such that he certainly would not be available this week, February 21-25.

He stated one of the questions he wanted to ask the Director was about McCarthy because nothing is in the record except the Director's La Jolla comment. I told him that, quite frankly, I saw no point for the Director to inject himself into this matter at this late date and that I thought this was something we might as well skip. He did not answer one way or the other.

Jim Egan called me after he had seen Knebel last week. Jim did not particularly like Knebel. It seemed that he was trying to inquire into the Director's personal life. The three specific points that he raised with Egan were as follows:

(1) He raised the question of Melvin Purvis and other disgruntled Agents. Egan told Knebel that Purvis could not take it and that Purvis was inclined to sit in his office and send men out to do the work. Egan did not believe that Knebel had seen Purvis.

(2) Knebel inquired regarding Ginger Rogers and any other women in the Director's life. Egan told him that this was just so much bunk as far as he ever knew.

(3) Knebel raised the question of difficulties the Director has had with political parties. Egan told him so far as he knew there had been no difficulties since 1933 when there was a concentrated move to replace the Director.

It is nobody's business but mine. Maybe the reason I am still single is that I haven't had the nerve that Knebel has to show in asking the question. N.

Memo for Mr. Tolson from L. B. Nichols

Charlie Appel also saw Knebel. Charlie called me to advise that he got the impression that Knebel was trying to dig up human interest anecdotes on the Director and that his story would be the human side of the Director. Appel stated that Knebel was friendly in the discussion he had with him.

I am attaching a letter which Knebel sent me wherein he raises certain questions. He states that he would like to talk to the Director off-the-record and not use anything without approval. There are certain matters in the attached letter which I can handle. On the personal side, I will flatly tell him that the Director's personal life is his own, but that his official duties have been such that he has not been able to have even the personal pleasures of the average person. Knebel informed me on Friday that he was now ready to start working on his story and he would like to see the Director sometime the week of March 7th if convenient. Knebel does a daily column usually between 1 and 4 p.m. He would like to have a little notice if possible so that he could work his column into his schedule.

It is suggested that the Director see Knebel briefly in the next few days.

Respectfully,

1. I can tell from papers attached what has been given Knebel & what hasn't.
2. I am absolutely opposed to giving matters of my personal life. It isn't anybody's business as long as I conduct myself properly & my actions don't adversely reflect upon the F.B.I.
3. I am not going to say yes to Knebel. I don't like being a laboratory specimen used for dissection.

Mr. Louis B. Nichols
Assistant to the Director
Federal Bureau of Investigation

Dear Lou:

Here are some of the things I'd like to discuss with Hoover when I get in to see him. The way I'd like to do it is just talk off-the-record, with the understanding that anything I wanted to quote, I'd ask him and get him to approve the quotes. Otherwise, we'd just be talking for background.

Politics, natch. I'd like to get a feeling of how he has worked with various presidents and attorneys general. For instance, I understand he now attends daily luncheons with Brownell and department heads. Isn't this a new thing. Also I'd like to know how he felt during the scandal days of the Harding administration. Of course he cleaned house as soon as he had the chance, but how did he operate in the meantime. Any incident of attempted mudslingery around him?

The Communist issue. How does he feel about the extra-curricular investigators, especially Joe McCarthy? What impelled him to testify in the Harry Dexter White case.

The liberal vs. Hoover issue. What does he think impells people to think he has tampered with our liberties when no one can cite a case where he actually has done so. I know what you and I think on this, but I'd like to hear him. Without regard to party, how does he classify his beliefs on the broad issues of the day. He speaks to the DAR and American Legion, for instance. Would he address the Association for the United Nations or other outfits dedicated to internationalism.

Personal stuff. The case for the bachelor. How come never married. Ever fall in love. Is it true he abhors formal dinner parties of the Cafritz and Mrs. Davies variety. Tastes in reading, music. ~~xxxxx~~ Leisure time desires and hobbies, if any. How come he has enjoyed the night clubs and race tracks. Nothing wrong with either, but usually doesn't fit with a character marked by strict discipline and streak of evangelistic fervor. A little on the practical jokes he has played on folks.

Hoover and the FBI. Not one person in a thousand would say the FBI hasn't done a remarkable job, but some people accuse Hoover of channeling everything through his name and making Hoover and the FBI synonymous. Does he think this essential for high efficiency.

Future. Will he retire or does he want to keep at the job as long as he can, assuming the administration in power wants him.

2----Knebel

Also, Lou, I'd still like to see Tolson and Miss Gandy for 15 to 20 minutes each.

Don't bother about the research on leading FBI cases. I find here in our little library "The Story ~~System~~ of the FBI," by the editors of LOOK in 1947. It is a swell job, I think, and has about all I'd need on that score.

I would like to have the name of the politician who threatened to get Hoover a job before nightfall and then Stone told him he should have fired the agent involved.

Would also like about a dozen Hoover speeches of recent times, to read through for the flavor and some quotes.

That's all for now,

Sincerely,

Fletcher

QUESTIONS WHICH FLETCHER KNEBEL WOULD LIKE TO TAKE UP WITH THE DIRECTOR AS REFLECTED IN HIS LETTER OF FEBRUARY 24, 1955

1. Knebel states he would like to get a feeling of how the Director has worked with various Presidents and Attorneys General. He understands the Director now attends daily luncheons with the Attorney General and Department heads. Isn't this a new thing? He would like to know how the Director felt during the scandal days of the Harding Administration, and while the Director cleaned house as soon as he could, how did he operate in the meantime? Were there any incidents of skulduggery around him?

Suggested answer: The Director is in a nonpolicy-making position. It is his duty to carry out policy. It is the duty of the heads of Government to make policy.

As to Presidents, both before and during World War II, the Director had frequent contacts with FDR. After the war, the need did not exist; and while the Director's relationship with Truman was official and pleasant, the necessity of frequent contact did not arise.

As to Attorneys General, the Director's only position could be that the Attorney General is his superior and he respects him as such. Due to events, situations and the time, varying emphasis has been placed upon the FBI. I do not think it would be in good taste to express our real feelings on Tom Clark, for example, and some of the others.

With reference to the daily luncheons, Brownell is the first Attorney General to inaugurate the practice of having daily luncheons participated in by staff heads. Other Attorneys General have had staff conferences which the Director has always attended.

Regarding the scandal days of the Harding Administration, what Knebel is getting to here is something personal. I think the Director might very well relate the practice that in those days Agents said they were with the Government rather than the FBI. The Director can also reflect his own views of disgust at the situation as it existed and his determination to build up the Bureau on the basis of merit and ability.

ENCLOSURE

2. On the Communist issue, Kaebel asked as to the Director's feelings about the extracurricular investigators, especially McCarthy? What impelled the Director to testify in the Harry Dexter White case?

It is suggested that the Director take the traditional position he had had on the role of Congressional investigations; how this is the only form in America that can accomplish certain functions, pointing out the need for corrective legislation, and the Director should refrain from making any comment on any individual Senator. If Kaebel presses on the McCarthy issue, I think the Director's position should be that with reference to the censure and recent controversy, the Director as a matter of policy does not inject himself into such matters.

On the Harry Dexter White case, the Director, of course, declined to testify on two occasions and did testify only after garbled accounts were widely publicized which prompted the committee to finally insist on the Director's testimony at which time the matter was referred to the Attorney General.

3. The liberal vs the Director issue and what does he think impells people to think he has tampered with our liberties when no one can cite a case where he actually has done so?

I think the Director's position here should be that he is at a loss to understand the basis for this issue; that some of our most effective support has come from the honest liberals. I think that a line of demarcation should be drawn between the honest liberal and the pseudo-liberal.

4. Without regard to Party, how does the Director classify his beliefs on the broad issues of the day. He speaks to the Daughters of the American Revolution and the American Legion, for example, would he address the Association for the United Nations?

The Director, of course, has not accepted invitations to make formal speeches since 1950. He has addressed varying types of groups ranging from the General Federation of Women's Clubs to the national convention of the B'nai B'rith. As to the Director's beliefs on the broad issues of the day, he does not inject himself into political matters. I think that this should be side-stepped.

5. Knebel refers to the question of personal data - why the Director never married?

This, of course, is none of Knebel's business and should it come up, I think Knebel should be told that time, events, situations never permitted.

6. Is it true the Director abhors formal dinner parties?

The answer, of course, is that the Director cannot with any degree of certainty make commitments in advance. When he found it necessary to be canceling commitments many years ago, he stopped accepting invitations; that there are just not enough hours in the day and that even when he goes home at night, he takes work with him.

7. Tastes in reading, music, leisure time and hobbies, if any.

The position in this is obvious. The Director tries to keep abreast of current matters with an occasional wild west story. When he has time for hobbies, it is taking care of his home, garden, collection of bronzes and so forth.

8. Why does the Director enjoy night clubs and race tracks? While there is nothing wrong with this, it does not fit with a character marked by strict discipline and a streak of evangelistic fervor.

The answer to this is, of course, the Director enjoys the outdoors and gets pleasure out of going to an occasional race track. His visits to night clubs are quite infrequent; however, he can see more individuals in a short period of time when he goes to the Stork Club, for example, than he could if he deliberately set out to contact people.

9. Knobel observes that not one person in a thousand would say the FBI has not done a remarkable job but some people accuse the Director of channeling everything through his name and making his name and the FBI synonymous. Is this essential for high efficiency?

Here again the answer is obvious. In a highly integrated organization such as the Bureau, everything must channel through a few funnels, and what Knobel neglected to raise in his question was what about the brickbats which the Director catches for the whole organization.

10. What about the future? Will the Director retire or does he want to keep on the job as long as he can?

I think this should be answered by the observation that no thought has been given to this. There is too much unfinished business at this point to even be entertaining such thoughts.

Dear Mr. Tolson:

Attached herewith is a memorandum concerning an allegation against the Director.

These insulting allegations are so rotten and completely unfounded that it is even unpleasant to handle them. I do feel, however, that you and Mr. Hoover should know about them.

I advised Agent Pond that under no circumstances is he ever to have anything to do again with the [REDACTED] because certainly they do not have much to talk about if Mrs. [REDACTED] repeats such preposterous gossip.

If the Director is able to identify Kendall and he should happen to live out this way, I would like to straighten him out in this matter.

Reference attached letter from Los Angeles dated 3-18-55.

I called the Los Angeles Office this morning and in the absence of SAC Malone talked with ASAC Gearty and instructed that Mrs. [REDACTED] be recontacted in an effort to obtain from her the identity of the girl referred to as Marilyn and the man named Kendall.

ASAC Gearty called back at 2:37 P.M. to advise that Mrs. [REDACTED] had been recontacted. With reference to Kendall she advised that there apparently was a misunderstanding concerning him inasmuch as he is not the one who made the allegation concerning the Director. She identified Kendall as being Messmore Kendall, whom she knew in 1934 when the statement concerning the Director is said to have been made, to be the owner of the Capitol Theater Building located at about 1301 Broadway in New York City. At that time Kendall was approximately 72 years of age and lived in a pent house on the Capitol Theater Building. Mrs. [REDACTED] said she attended several parties there and on one occasion someone there whom she cannot now identify made the alleged statement concerning the Director. She is certain, however, that the statement was not made by Kendall. She insisted that her memory in this connection was not good in view of the fact that the statement was made approximately 20 years ago and she also commented that she might well have had one or two too many drinks at the time.

Concerning the girl named Marilyn, Mrs. [REDACTED] insisted that she could not recall her last name nor can she recall any shows or productions Marilyn was in though she believes she was an actress. She said she only lived with Marilyn one month but does not recall the address of the apartment which they shared. She was asked under what name she was living at that time and said she was using the name of [REDACTED] with whom she had been living shortly prior to this time. She also does not know the present whereabouts of [REDACTED]. Mrs. [REDACTED] was questioned further but no information was elicited which would help to identify the person who made the alleged statement concerning the Director.

Mrs. [REDACTED] was firmly impressed with the maliciousness of such comments and seemed to be considerably perturbed over the statement which she had made. She commented that she was afraid her husband ([REDACTED]) might leave her because of the comments as he was opposed to anyone indulging in malicious rumors. She insisted that she would not discuss any such rumors or gossip further and expressed herself as being sincerely sorry for ever having made any comments of this type concerning the Director.

No further action with reference to this matter appears to be warranted at this time.

PERSONAL AND CONFIDENTIAL

Allegation Concerning the Director

On this date a memorandum was received from SA Wayne Y. Pond, the resident agent at Victorville, California, wherein he advised that on approximately February 9 last, [REDACTED] in charge of the Sheriff's Office substation at [REDACTED] was reported to his superior, [REDACTED] (NA), Sheriff of [REDACTED], as having been in an argument with an unknown individual at the Red Log Cocktail Lounge, during which [REDACTED] allegedly pulled his gun and threatened the individual with whom he was arguing. Subsequent investigation refuted the allegation that [REDACTED] had pulled the gun. However, it was learned that [REDACTED] had had several drinks and as a result Sheriff [REDACTED] transferred him from [REDACTED] to [REDACTED] effective March 15th.

On the evening of February 26, [REDACTED] and his wife, [REDACTED], visited with Special Agent and Mrs. WAYNE POND at their home, and according to SA POND, the only purpose of the visit was to ask SA POND to intercede with Sheriff [REDACTED] for cancellation of his transfer. SA POND advised [REDACTED] that he would have absolutely no part in such a thing. During the evening [REDACTED] stated that in 1934 she was living in New York City, during which time she became acquainted with numerous show people, including a beautiful blonde by the name of MARILYN (ph) (last name not recalled but begins with "M"). Mrs. [REDACTED] claimed to have lived with MARILYN for a short time in an apartment about 1 1/2 blocks from Park Avenue. A short time later, Mrs. [REDACTED] was told by an elderly gentleman by the name of KENDALL (ph) (first name not recalled) that MARILYN had been the girl friend of and supported for seven years by J. EDGAR HOOVER. KENDALL claimed to be a close friend of Mr. HOOVER. Mrs. [REDACTED] stated that she receives a Christmas card each year from KENDALL but could furnish no helpful information in regard to his identity.

Agent POND told Mrs. [REDACTED] in no uncertain terms that her story was untrue. He stated that Mr. HOOVER's character and reputation have been attacked many times but are still unblemished. 561-310

Agent POND pointed out that Mrs. [REDACTED] has established a reputation as a heavy drinker and a nasty-mouthed person who has frequent quarrels with her husband. She often leaves home and "makes the rounds." SA POND stated, however, that Mrs. [REDACTED] was definitely not under the influence of liquor in his home on the evening in question. He pointed out that [REDACTED] has been most cooperative with him and with the Bureau while in the Sheriff's Office at [REDACTED], and he extended to Mr. and Mrs. [REDACTED] the usual courtesies of his home. He let them know, however, that Mrs. [REDACTED]'s remarks in regard to the Director were entirely unappreciated.

I asked SA POND why this matter was not referred to me immediately after the event occurred in his home on February 26, and he stated that it did not occur to him that anything could be done about it because he felt he had dressed Mrs. [REDACTED] down in no uncertain terms and that it was probably not possible, on the basis of the meager information available, to identify KENDALL.

I told POND that I want to be advised immediately of anything that involves the good name of Mr. HOOVER and I will make the decisions as to what disposition will be made of the information.

J. Edgar Hoover

Recently while in Denver to lecture at an Intelligence Conference of the United States Air Force, William C. Sullivan visited the Denver Field Office.

It was of interest to Sullivan to learn that they are still talking about the Director's visit to Denver of some time ago (relative to the conference with President Eisenhower).

It seems that while in Denver the Director expressed himself as being strongly opposed to pomp, ceremony ostentation and general artificiality which so often characterizes the "high brass" of the armed services. The Director apparently made it evident that he did not care for it, not only in the armed services but wherever it is to be found.

This made a profound and lasting impression on the men of the Denver Office. They were delighted. They are still quoting among themselves some of the jesting and humorous remarks which the Director made on the subject. They commented on how friendly, democratic and unassuming his own attitude was--a decided contrast to the attitude of so many Generals, Admirals, etc. known to the Agents over a period of time. Apart from the official purpose of the Director's visit to Denver, it was very obvious to Sullivan that his visit to Denver did the men in that office a great deal of good. One Agent summed up well the attitude of all with this remark, overheard by Sullivan, "The Boss is welcome back here any day--even if he drops in on us without warning."

Who's to Follow Famous Hoover As FBI Head?

One of the most intriguing questions in Washington today is: Who can, or will, succeed J. Edgar Hoover, director of the Federal Bureau of Investigation, when he retires from service?

It has been the subject of much discussion ever since the early "new deal" days, when some politicians were out unsuccessfully to get Mr. Hoover's scalp.

Latest name to enter the discussions is that of Leland V. Boardman, who succeeded Daniel M. Ladd as head of investigations. Ladd previously had been considered as a successor.

Remain Anonymous

By choice, the few key men around Mr. Hoover are members of an organization known as Anonymity Anonymous. And since his appointment, Boardman very definitely has joined that group, pulling the soundproof walls of the bureau around him.

But because of his lectures and other law enforcement groups before his appointment, he is a better known FBI official.

Before his advancement, Mr. Boardman was special agent in charge of the important New York City office, a position he held previously in Milwaukee, Cleveland, Seattle, Kansas City, and Philadelphia.

President of Anonymity Anonymous is Clyde Tolson, who is in charge when Mr. Hoover is out of town. His title is associate director. He and Mr. Hoover became friends when they worked together on the arrest of Alvin Karpis, the gangster, in New Orleans in 1936.

Another Mentioned

Another prominently mentioned successor for Mr. Hoover is Lou Nichols, in charge of the bureau's records and communications. He's very close to Mr. Hoover, and if he can't produce from memory some scrap of information on the FBI which may be ten years old, he'll get it from his files in seconds.

Before Ladd's retirement, the trio of Tolson, Nichols, and Ladd were considered the top men in the bureau. Now Boardman is one.

Ladd's statement on the day of his retirement is typical of the devotion they all have for Mr. Hoover. Asked what he considered the most significant development in crime detection during the many years he had been in the bureau, his answer was:

"Why, Mr. Hoover's leadership in making law enforcement a respected profession and his development of scientific crime laboratory work, of course."
